

G. O. P. IS A PARTY OF MAGNIFICENCE, SAYS MARTIN

U. S. Senator from Penna. Addresses Young Republicans at Harrisburg

FLAYS DEMOCRATS

Speaker Says Democratic Party is One of Narrowing Horizons

(Special to The Courier)

HARRISBURG, Aug. 23 — The Democratic party is a party of narrowing horizons and limited future, while the Republican Party is one of expanding greatness and a magnificent destiny for this nation, U. S. Senator Edward Martin (R., Pa.) told a convention of the Pennsylvania Federation of Young Republicans meeting here today.

In his address, Senator Martin said:

"Your presence here is evidence of your determination to restore sound government to our Republic.

"It is evidence of your zeal to re-establish the fundamental concept of individual freedom which made us a great Nation.

"It is evidence that you are fighting to wipe out the moral blight of corruption in government with the cleansing power of honesty and decency.

"These are the principles of the Republican Party. In making them your principles you have assumed a great responsibility.

"I am completely confident that for many, many years the Young Republicans, of whom we are all so proud, will continue to be a crucible of good citizenship and patriotic Americanism.

"On each occasion when I have addressed Young Republicans, I have tried to place emphasis on the important place your group will have in the years ahead. I have said something very much like what I am about to say now. It is this:

"The future of America rests upon your shoulders. You will shape its destiny. Your decisions will guide our country into the course it is to follow.

"Perhaps that sounds like old stuff. It is old stuff—but it is such a fundamental truth that our young men and young women must never be allowed to forget it.

"They must never take this responsibility lightly. They must never ignore it. If the spirit of youth fails—if youth loses its courage, vigor and self-reliance, America will fail.

"I have never meant that more sincerely than I do at this moment.

"Youth takes the optimistic view. Youth looks to tomorrow, to the tomorrow which must be made better and brighter than today or yesterday.

"I thank God fervently for that viewpoint. It is the tomorrow of our Republic that I want to discuss with you for a few moments.

"If the tomorrows are to be better—and, with your help, they will be better—they must rest upon the firm foundation of all that is sound in the todays and yesterdays.

"They must rest upon the solid foundation of the Constitution, individual liberty, freedom of religion for all, freedom of speech and the press, equal justice and equal opportunity without regard for race, color, creed or national origin.

"Unfortunately, in your life-time there has developed in this country a school of philosophy which teaches fright, timidity and doom.

"They say—and they address their subtle appeal especially to our young people—that the United States has reached its limit.

"They say we have arrived at the peak of our economic maturity, that there is nothing to look forward to except a frightened security, huddle-together under the Great White Father's bureaucracy in Washington.

"They say our supply of raw materials is running out, that no unexplored frontiers remain, that opportunity for youth is dead in our land. They say there is no choice—that we must entrust everything into the hands of an all-powerful central government which will take care of us.

"It will bring us into the world at a government hospital, with the help of government doctors and nurses. It will feed us, clothe us, shelter us from the summer sun and the winter snow. It will lead us by the hand in our youth, our maturity and our old age. And finally, when we are to be returned to the dust whence all came, this all-powerful, central, Big Brother state will be there to wind our

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Instead of trying to stamp out communism all over the world the Western Allies should try to split Communist-dominated areas from the control of Moscow, Field Marshal Sir William Slim, Chief of the British Imperial General Staff, suggested. If such a revised policy were to succeed, communism in countries other than the Soviet Union would not need be an international menace, in the opinion of Sir William.

Even if the fifth Five-Year Plan of the Soviet Union succeeds, with its sharply increased goals for production by 1955, that nation still would be producing in 1955 only about half as much in industrial goods as the United States did last year, an analysis of the plan indicated.

The negotiations between Soviet and American representatives for a new United States Embassy building in Moscow appeared to be nearing a successful conclusion. The Russians have offered a modern ten-story apartment building on Moscow's Garden Ring, along an imposing boulevard. United States representatives said the negotiations looking toward acceptance of the offer were proceeding smoothly.

In Iran it was officially announced that the Mossadegh Government, for the first time since it assumed dictatorial powers,

REQUEST USE OF AN OLD SCHOOL HOUSE

The Upper Makefield Board Would Use Old Buckmanville Bldg.

IS COMMUNITY CENTER

WASHINGTON CROSSING, Aug. 23 — Upper Makefield township School Board will request permission from Jericho Valley Authorities to use the old Buckmanville School, now a community center, as an extra classroom. The room previously offered by Frederick Banks of Washington Crossing is "too small" decided the board recently when attempting to solve the additional-classroom problem.

The basement of Washington Crossing School has been renovated so that it will serve as a classroom, but an additional room is yet needed on a temporary basis until the new $200,000 school on the site at Eagle road in the Woodhill section is ready for occupancy.

Approval has been received from the Pennsylvania Department of Health, Art and Public Instruction, and Labor and Industry in Harrisburg for the erection of the new school. And the architect has been authorized to prepare final plans of the building.

That construction of the school will begin by October or November is the expressed hope of the board which wishes all building bids to be submitted as soon as possible.

The school bus schedule will be announced at a later date. Next meeting of the board will be at the home of Robert Biddle, Mt. Eyre road.

Claims Residents Not Aware of High Sewer Cost

MORRISVILLE, Aug. 23 — Morrisville taxpayers didn't object to the cost of the new sewer project because they were unaware that the cost would be nearly $1,000 for the first five years per home-owner said John C. Whalen, president of the Morrisville Taxpayers' Association.

Whalen's comments were in answer to those made by Common Council President William F. Anderson at last Monday's meeting. It is reported, when he said of the taxpayers, "We never had an individual who objected to any phase of it."

If the public had been told, said Whalen, of the cost of the project before the ordinance meetings approving it were held, there would have been a much larger turnout at the council meetings.

Whalen said also, of the increased assessments in the area, "It appears that the old inequities are still there and many people are filing appeals." A number in the borough have had increases of "15 to 20 per cent," he stated. He attributed the increase to the high cost of the new sewer project.

A full report on property assessment in the area is expected to be given at the next meeting of the association Monday at eight p. m., Chambers street hall.

SCHOOL OFFICIALS FACE SAME OLD PROBLEMS NOW

Shortage of Teachers and Facilities With Overflow of Students

ENROLLMENT, 1,712,000

Many "War Babies" Will Attend School For First Time

By Hugh L. Morris

(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

HARRISBURG, Aug. 23—(INS)—

State Education officials were faced today with a new school year but the same old problems—shortage of teachers and facilities and an overflow of students.

The 1952-53 public school term gets underway September 2.

Spokesmen in the State Department of Public Instruction predict a banner enrollment of 1,712,000, with a majority of the 1946-47 crop of "war babies" attending school this year for the first time.

"This year will see our biggest single increase in the first grade," said Dr. Carl D. Mornewick of the Child Research Bureau.

On the basis of births and the anticipated birth trend, Mornewick said he anticipates a peak first grade enrollment this year with a gradual decline to about 1941 level by 1960.

Many local school districts are still casting about in an attempt to fill teacher vacancies before school opens.

Some 63,500 teachers will be needed this year to handle the student load. This represents an increase of about 3,000 in the number of classroom teachers since last year.

"Our greatest need is in elementary schools, particularly the first

JOINT OWNERSHIP OF INCINERATORS SOUGHT

Newtown Twp. Supervisors Ask Co. Commissioners To Explore Possibilities

DISPOSAL OF GARBAGE

Newtown Township's board of supervisors has asked the commissioners of Bucks county to explore the possibilities for joint ownership and operation of garbage disposal incinerators by Bucks County municipalities.

The county commissioners have referred the request to Bucks County Planning Commission for study and discussion at its next meeting on Sept. 9th.

Public dumps are prohibited by ordinance in Newtown township. According to the letter from B. W. Lloyd, secretary to the board of supervisors, the rapid increase in housing has aggravated the problem of garbage and rubbish disposal confronting municipalities. Mr. Lloyd states that it is not feasible for townships and boroughs to construct and maintain such facilities on an individual basis.

CORNWELLS HEIGHTS, Aug. 23

—Two thieves, described as youths between the ages of 16 and 18 years of age, stole the cash register from the counter of Tochtman's Restaurant, Bristol Pike, about 1.30 this morning.

One of the youths, according to Bensalem Police Chief George Rentz, held the door of the restaurant open while the other ran in, picked up the cash register, and ran back outside. Both of the suspects then disappeared into the night.

No clue was given as to the possible identity of the suspects, whom waitresses at the restaurant were unable to fully identify. The few people in the restaurant at the time were not able to describe in detail the suspects either.

And no one was able to say whether the suspects made away in a car or whether they escaped on foot, according to Rentz.

Chief Rentz described the cash register as being "small," and probably easy to carry by the youthful suspects. The amount of money which the register contained is not definitely known.

WILL BEGIN WORK ON ST. AGNES' CHURCH

$75,000 Edifice To Have Glass-Enclosed Nursery, Parking Area

A CAPACITY OF 400

SELLERSVILLE, Aug. 23 — The new $75,000 St. Agnes Catholic Church which will adjoin the present church school on Noble and Main sts., is expected to be under construction within the next few days. Completion of the edifice is expected by Christmas 1953.

The new 42x96 foot church will be of a modified Romanesque design, in brick, with a seating capacity of 400. There are about 150 families in the St. Agnes congregation.

Incorporated in the church will be a forced hot air heating system equipped for summer ventilating and air-conditioning. A means of sound amplification is to be provided, as is a glass enclosed nursery.

The nursery is being provided so that mothers with infants may conveniently attend religious services. Lighting will be of the concealed type. In addition adequate parking facilities will be available at the rear of the church.

The present church, built in 1868, will be used as a parish social center after the new church is completed. The Rev. C. E. Wenger is rector of the church.

The church was designed by Edwin J. Fleming, architects, in cooperation with the parish building committee including George Hetherington, Abrose LeVan, William Notter and Frank O'Rourke. Contract for construction was awarded to C. Raymond Lukens, North Wales.

SCHOOL OFFICIALS FACE SAME OLD PROBLEMS NOW

Shortage of Teachers and Facilities With Overflow of Students

ENROLLMENT, 1,712,000

Many "War Babies" Will Attend School For First Time

By Hugh L. Morris
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)
HARRISBURG, Aug. 23.—(INS)—

State Education officials were faced today with a new school year but the same old problems—shortages of teachers and facilities and an overflow of students.

The 1952-53 public school term gets underway September 2. Spokesmen in the State Department of Public Instruction predict a banner enrollment of 1,712,000, with a majority of the 1946-47 crop of "war babies" attending school this year for the first time.

"This year will see our biggest single increase in the first grade," said Dr. Carl D. Mornewick of the Child Research Bureau.

On the basis of births and the anticipated birth trend, Mornewick said he anticipates a peak first grade enrollment this year with a gradual decline to about 1941 level by 1960.

Many local school districts are still casting about in an attempt to fill teacher vacancies before school opens.

Some 63,500 teachers will be needed this year to handle the student load. This represents an increase of about 3,000 in the number of classroom teachers since last year.

"Our greatest need is in elementary schools, particularly the first

JOINT OWNERSHIP OF INCINERATORS SOUGHT

Newtown Twp. Supervisors Ask Co. Commissioners To Explore Possibilities

DISPOSAL OF GARBAGE

Newtown Township's board of supervisors has asked the commissioners of Bucks county to explore the possibilities for joint ownership and operation of garbage disposal incinerators by Bucks County municipalities.

The county commissioners have referred the request to Bucks County Planning Commission for study and discussion at its next meeting on Sept. 9th.

Public dumps are prohibited by ordinance in Newtown township. According to the letter from B. W. Lloyd, secretary to the board of supervisors, the rapid increase in housing has aggravated the problem of garbage and rubbish disposal confronting municipalities.

Mr. Lloyd states that it is not feasible for townships and boroughs to construct and maintain such facilities on an individual basis.

RESTAURANT CASH REGISTER STOLEN

Claim 2 Youths Rush Out Tochterman Door at Cornwells Hts. with Loot

AMOUNT NOT DEFINITE

CORNWELLS HEIGHTS, Aug. 23 —Two thieves, described as youths between the ages of 16 and 18 years of age, stole the cash register from the counter of Tochterman's Restaurant, Bristol Pike, about 1.30 this morning.

One of the youths, according to Bensalem Police Chief George Rentz, held the door of the restaurant open while the other ran, picked up the cash register, and ran back outside. Both of the suspects then disappeared into the night.

No clue was given as to the possible identity of the suspects, whom waitresses at the restaurant were unable to fully identify. The few people in the restaurant at the time were not able to describe in detail the suspects either.

And no one was able to say whether the suspects made away in a car or whether they escaped on foot, according to Rentz.

Chief Rentz described the cash register as being "small," and probably easy to carry by the youthful suspects. The amount of money which the register contained is not definitely known.

WHO'S FOR FREEDOM?

Everybody believes in freedom of speech for himself. What I believe (each man feels) is true. Obviously there should be no suppression when I speak or write it. Just as obviously the ideas of he who disagrees with me are false.

Perhaps he does not honestly believe them at all, but merely proclaims them for sinister reasons. I am right and therefore should be free to say what I think. He is wrong, so I doubt whether he has any right to say what he thinks.

This sounds remarkably plausible. But it is the argument that has been used to justify every suppression of free speech from the ancient tyrants to Stalin.

The fallacy in the doctrine of freedom for ideas that are true, suppression of ideas that are false, is not hard to locate. There may be little man can learn from history, as some contend, but this one lesson is clear: Ideas universally believed can be wrong.

There was never a time in recorded history when all ideas that were suppressed were false—or when all ideas that were defended were true. It is a humbling thought.

Oliver Cromwell once addressed a parliament in this tenor: "I beseech you, gentlemen, ask yourselves if you may not be wrong." His times would have been happier if he had been too unsure of his own rightness to suppress those who disagreed with him.

Thomas Jefferson expressed it a bit differently: "Having banished from our land that religious intolerance under which mankind so long bled and suffered, we have gained little if we countenance a political intolerance as despotic . . . Every difference of opinion is not a difference of principle . . . If there be any among us who wish to dissolve this union or to change its republican form, let them stand undisturbed as monuments of the safety, with which error of opinion may be tolerated where reason is left free to combat it."

It is announced that the United States government has developed a source of rubber. Aside from the dollar, that is.

It's only a few days until cooler weather and the realization that nothing has been done toward Christmas shopping.

To Appeal "Low" Steel Works Assessment

The township school board will receive approximately $490,000 this year from the steel company.

But because of the heavy influx of families whose sons and daughters will attend the township schools the school board heard their financial advisors at Thursday's meeting state that unless industry's assessment were raised it would be necessary to increase the present assessment rate of 35 mills to a rate of 55 mills.

The increased immigration into the Falls township area is expected to result in from 9,000 to 10,000 new houses in the area within the next two years, according to Alvin C. Thompson, board president.

"Holidays in The Unusual Garden" is Trevoze Topic

TREVOZE, Aug. 23 — "Holiday originally meant Holy day, and I spent my 'holy days' on my knees in my garden." So Mrs. Elsa Fort, of Merchantville, N. J., informed members of Trevoze Horticultural Society Tuesday evening when she spoke in the community house on "Holidays in the Unusual Garden".

The audience of 200 was smaller than usual, due to vacation period. Mrs. Fort took the members on a calendar trip for the year.

Asserting that with the waning of summer the birds are coming back, Mrs. Fort said: "Next month, of course, the holiday is Labor Day. In October I don't do my housecleaning in the garden. I allow the old marigolds to remain because of the few blooms they still have. November is chrysanthemum time and I love the smell of the leaves. Thanksgiving, naturally, is the holiday of this month. The Christmas roses are very waxen and beautiful in December and add a nice Christmas Day touch."

"January," said Mrs. Fort, "is the most exciting month of all because it is catalogue time. Gardens are really planted during this month. . . . I expect early crocus in February. By March I have early daffodils and crocus in full bloom. I plan my flower beds during this month and enjoy rhododendrons. When Easter Sunday, the Holiest day of the year arrives, I have a nice bouquet by that time. During April I do my digging."

"May, the loveliest month of the year, is when the seeds are planted on Decoration Day. Many flower lovers plant seeds too early and when it is too cold they never germinate enough to grow. June is the month of roses and the month for the worst chore of the year, spraying, and transplanting must be done. When July rolls around the perennials are at their height and by August there are gloriosa, lilies, crepe myrtle and cladiums," Mrs. Fort said.

Harold West, presided. Winners of the little show classes follow: Marine study, Ethel Dungan; arrangement in container at least 50 years old, Harold West; A. E. "Ye shall keep My Sabbath and reverence My Sanctuary." (Lev. XIX. 30.)

The word sanctuary should be applied in its widest sense, for it is possible to rest on the Sabbath and yet violate the spiritual sanctuary of God. To observe the Sabbath, in the full sense of the term, we must reverence the holy teachings of God; listening to the call of our inner conscience; sanctifying the needs of the spirit. Hence the Sabbath should be observed, not only in a negative sense by refraining from manual work but in a positive sense by doing something constructive and advancing the higher self of Man—the soul. For the spring of blessing in every man is in his soul. Only when the Sabbath quickens the life of the soul does it truly bless those who observe it.

MUSIC IS THE CHIEF INTEREST OF COUPLE

Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Wolk Met As Members of The Columbia Opera Co.

BOTH ARE SINGERS

By Staff Reporter

LEVITTOWN, Aug. 23 — One of the chief sources of pleasure for Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Wolk is the baby grand piano which has a place of honor in their living-room.

Both musically inclined, the Wolsks first met in the nation's capital when they were members of the Columbia Opera Company. The head of the household is a baritone, his wife has a soprano voice.

Both play the piano, and Mrs. Wolk has had as high as 16 pupils. Her activities and interests are many. A graduate of the school of nursing at Garfield Memorial Hospital, Washington, D. C., she took a post-graduate course at St. Elizabeth's Hospital, that city, dealing there with psychiatric cases. She also had Cadet Nurse training under a government set-up.

Last winter the Wolsks took art courses at Trenton, N. J., junior high school. One of Mrs. Wolk's paintings has been hung over the fire-place.

Another activity of the home-maker is serving as reporter for a Levittown newspaper, and she thus keeps tabs on club and organization activities in the community, and on social affairs of her neighbors.

Mr. Wolk is of the athletic type, and enjoys along with his music, such sports as softball, football, tennis, bowling and golf.

"Holidays in The Unusual Garden" is Trevoze Topic

TREVOZE, Aug. 23 — "Holiday originally meant Holy day, and I spent my 'holy days' on my knees in my garden". So Mrs. Elsa Fort, of Merchantville, N. J., informed members of Trevoze Horticultural Society Tuesday evening when she spoke in the community house on "Holidays in the Unusual Garden".

The audience of 200 was smaller than usual, due to vacation period. Mrs. Fort took the members on a calendar trip for the year. Asserting that with the waning of summer the birds are coming back, Mrs. Fort said: "Next month, of course, the holiday is Labor Day. In October I don't do my house-cleaning in the garden. I allow the old marigolds to remain because of the few blooms they still have. November is chrysanthemum time and I love the smell of the leaves. Thanksgiving, naturally, is the holiday of this month. The Christmas roses are very waxen and beautiful in December and add a nice Christmas Day touch."

"January," said Mrs. Fort, "is the most exciting month of all because it is catalogue time. Gardens are really planted during this month. . . I expect early crocus in February. By March I have early daffodils and crocus in full bloom. I plan my flower beds during this month and enjoy rhododendrons. When Easter Sunday, the Holiest day of the year arrives, I have a nice bouquet by that time. During April I do my digging."

"May, the loveliest month of the year, is when the seeds are planted on Decoration Day. Many flower lovers plant seeds too early and when it is too cold and they never germinate enough to grow. June is the month of roses and the month for the worst chore of the year, spraying, and transplanting must be done. When July rolls around the perennials are at their height and by August there are gloriosa, lilies, crepe myrtle and cladiums," Mrs. Fort said.

Harold West, presided. Winners of the little show classes follow: Marine study, Ethel Dungan; arrangement in container at least 50 years old, Harold West, A. E. Paxson and Elsa Fort; pair of miniatures not over six inches in any dimension, J. Dungan, Mrs. Dungan and Miss A. E. Paxson; arrangement of flowers in shades of pink, E. C. Evans and Beatrice Sinclair; container of roses, Mrs. Paxson and Marguerite Cacklin; container of celosia, Harold West; perennials, Mr. Clark; cosmos, Mrs. Paterson, and container of annuals, Mrs. Patterson, Mr. Clark and George Marshall.

MILLER CONFIDENT OF WINNING EVENT AT SPEEDWAY

Bill Miller, of Mountville, was second man in the 100-mile National Motorcycle Championship staged at Langhorne last season. This is not generally Miller's position when the checkered flag is dropped on these long grinds, for in previous seasons and in events other than the one staged at the Bucks County course, Miller has shown the way, not followed. He has taken the Laconia century; the Peoria grind and the Richmond classic but never has he taken the Langhorne feature.

Sunday afternoon, Aug. 31st, the cyclist from the Keystone State feels confident that he will lead the field to the finish. The 31-year-old rider, who seldom misses the top racing events in the motorcycle sport, has his Harley setup for the long grind around the famous dirt raceway. In previous years he has come close but a spill or mechanical failure has forced him to withdraw. Last season he gave Huber the battle that forced a new record for the race and this season he hopes Bill Huber's mark is shattered and that he is the ace who will romp home with the triumph.

Meanwhile, Huber too, is preparing for his toughest grind against what promises to be the greatest field ever entered. Dick Klamfath, the Ohio cyclist who snared victory at Daytona Beach and Laconia in 1951 and again this season, will be shooting for a grand slam—something no one has ever done in the sport. Babe Tancredi, the New England speedster, is another top threat in the strong field. This veteran has competed in all thirteen races and although always among the leaders is still looking for the top money in the grind.

Paul Albrecht, of Sacramento, Cal., holder of many records; Stan Myers, of Doylestown, Pa.; Leon Newhall, of Lynn, Mass.; Joe Tomas, of North Arlington, N. J.; and Roy Ridgeway, of Roanoke, Va., all seasoned campaigners, will be among the field shooting for a win in the only 100-mile National Championship sanctioned by the American Motorcycle Association.

shrouds and lay us away right side up.

"With all the vigor and fervor at my command, I say—may the day never come when our beloved America is swallowed up by that philosophy. May the day never come when young Americans of any political persuasion, will be willing to sell their rich heritage of freedom and independence for that poisonous philosophy that can lead only to enslavement.

"The heroes and patriots of the Revolution did not fight for independence to achieve subservience to any state. They struggled and sacrificed to free themselves from tyranny and oppression by government.

"You and your fathers didn't fight two World Wars to live under a socialist system.

"We could have achieved that much by just laying down our arms, hoisting the white flag of surrender, and assuring the enemy that we would be obedient servants of the State.

"We Republicans believe in a different philosophy.

"We know our nation has not reached the peak of its growth. The horizon of American opportunity is unlimited for young men and women of courage and vision.

"The men who raised the greatest, richest and most powerful nation in all history upon a wilderness had as their tools, courage, vision and opportunity. They had faith in themselves, faith in their country and faith in God.

"For the young people of today, willing to face up to that brighter tomorrow, and to accept the responsibility for America's future, new opportunities will beckon from a thousand directions.

"We have not attained the highest peak of cultural and spiritual achievement.

"We have not reached the saturation point in employment opportunities.

"The best automobiles—and airplanes have not yet been built.

"The greatest possible progress and prosperity has not yet been achieved.

"We have within ourselves the power and ability to go on and on to heights undreamed of today.

"We've barely begun to chain atomic power. We're on the threshold of a new era of light metals and plastics as important as was the iron age in which we live today.

"Who knows what greatness is around the corner to industry, science and research. Waiting are new sources of energy, new materials, far-reaching vistas for a free people willing to explore these frontiers.

"The worst roadblock to opportunity for young people in America is the present Administration in Washington.

"Since it has been in power there has been a determined and vigorous drive to destroy freedom of the individual and free enterprise and to substitute a planned, regimented, socialist economy, directed and controlled by Washington.

"Under that system, Federal bureaucrats would supply the answers to all your problems.

"They would make your decisions.

"They would tax away and spend your earnings.

"They would regulate and control business and agriculture.

"They would socialize the practice of medicine.

"They would place our schools under Federal dictatorship.

"They would expand government operation of industry in competition with private enterprise.

"They would deprive State and local governments of their rightful functions and would concentrate more and more power at the Federal level.

"If President Truman has his way, he would give Oscar Ewing and Charles Brannan a free hand to impose all of these radical, un-American socialist schemes on the American people.

"What future would there be for young people under those conditions?

"In this campaign year the Fair Deal Democrats have put on a new front. They have hired a new decorator to give the old establishment a new and fresh appearance.

"They are trying desperately to cover up the shameful stains which have dishonored the present Administration.

"They are struggling to convince the American people that a Stevenson Democrat is different from a Truman Democrat.

"We must not let them get away with that.

"It's the same Fair Deal party, with the same faces, the same big city bosses, the same left wingers, the same unsound domestic policies and the same foreign bungling.

"It's the same arrogant crowd, drunk with power, who concealed and condoned corruption and closed its eyes to the danger of Communists in places of the highest importance in our government.

"Only the window dressing would be different.

"From now until Election Day you young Republicans have a special mission. It is to carry the true message of fundamental Americanism which is the only road to that better tomorrow for the young people of America.

"Go out among the youth in every one of the 8000 precincts of Pennsylvania.

"Explain that they have the most at stake in the future of the nation and that this is their year of grave decision.

"Ask them these questions:

"Do you want to keep in power an Administration that destroys incentive and opportunity?

"Do you want to keep in power an Administration that makes it impossible for a young man to establish himself in business and deprives him of a chance to get ahead?

"Do you want to keep in power an Administration that has debased our currency, loaded us with a monstrous burden of debt, takes away one-third of the Nation's income in taxes, and then squanders much of it in waste and extravagance?

"Do you want to keep in power an Administration that is reeking with corruption, that cannot divest itself of the disgrace of the milk coat deals, the deep freeze gifts, the income tax scandals, the favoritism in R. F. C. loans, the five percenters and the influence peddlers to whom the White House doors are always open?

"Tell them how important it is to give their answer at the ballot box and the voting machine next November.

"Impress upon them that there is only one way in which they can defend their future and the future of the United States and that is by voting the straight Republican ticket on Election Day.

"With loyalty, organization and hard work we will give Governor Fine a decisive majority in the General Assembly to support the sound and progressive program of the Republican Party.

"We will elect our State ticket to continue sound, economical and efficient government at Harrisburg.

"We will increase Pennsylvania's strength in Congress to co-operate with the Republican Administration that will take over at Washington next January.

"We will elect as President of the United States a great leader, a great statesman, a great diplomat, a great patriot, a great American, like Eisenhower.

"And with him his capable, young, vigorous, dynamic running mate, my distinguished colleague in the Senate, Dick Nixon.

"Then we will leave the Truman road of disaster and get back on the broad highway that will lead youth to a brighter and happier tomorrow."

grades," pointed out Stanley A. Wengert of the Teacher Certification Bureau.

Other shortages will be felt in home economics, library science and commercial fields of secondary education and in special education classes for mentally retarded, crippled or other handicapped students.

Shortages of classroom facilities will also be evident this school year despite Pennsylvania's biggest boom in history in construction of new school buildings.

E. A. Quackenbush, director of the Bureau of School Administration, said his department is unable to process as rapidly as they arrive the applications from school districts for new construction.

The school districts are taking advantage of a 1951 law to provide financial assistance by the state in construction of new buildings.

"This is the greatest opportunity school districts have had," explained Quackenbush. "Inability to finance them has previously hampered construction of sorely needed buildings."

Some few of the classroom units built with state aid will be ready for use this school year, but Quackenbush pointed out that a majority of them will not be occupied for "a couple of years yet."

Harry W. Stone, in the School Plant Division, said 439 projects already have been approved with others being added daily to the stack awaiting the process of being checked and approved.

The three traditional problems facing educators—teacher, students and buildings—will all be most evident this year in the big development areas in Bucks County.

Teacher shortages will also be acute in the one-room schools found most frequently in mountainous areas of the state. Many of these one-room, one-teacher units have as many as eight grades.

One approach to the problems, particularly in the lower grades, is having one group of pupils attend school in the morning with another group coming in during the afternoon.

Breakdown in the anticipated enrollment figures this year shows 1,088,000 expected in elementary schools as compared with 1,051,000 last year and 624,000 in high schools as compared with 603,000 last year.

Morneweck said the actual enrollment may be smaller.

"The labor market is more open this year and will cut in on the number of 16 and 17-year-olds who would normally attend school," he explained.

State law requires that boys and girls go to school until their 17th birthday but provides that 16-year-olds may obtain employment certificates and drop out of school to go to work.

The regulation which permits enrollment in the first grade in September if a child will be six years old before the next February 1 opens the door this year to the majority of the 1946-47 "war babies."

Morneweck said 249,000 were born in that period and estimated 229,000 of them will start to school this year, as compared with 165,000 students in the first grade last year.

Although there is usually a lack of qualified elementary school teachers, the shortage will be acute this year because of this heavy first grade enrollment.

The normal load is 30 pupils to each teacher.

Wengert said the traditional elementary teacher shortage is due primarily to the reluctance of college students to go in for elementary education. Most of them prefer secondary education.

Teacher shortages in high schools will be felt in commercial and home economics fields due to qualified teachers drifting from schools to higher-paid jobs in industry.

Wengert estimated nearly 1,000 emergency teacher certificates may be issued this year but said the number is being decreased due to a new law which causes a $300 deduction from the state subsidy for each emergency certificate teacher employed beyond two years.

Lowest temperature ever recorded in the U. S. was 66 degrees F., below zero, at Yellowstone Park, Feb. 9, 1933.

one-room, one-teacher units have as many as eight grades.

One approach to the problems, particularly in the lower grades, is having one group of pupils attend school in the morning with another group coming in during the afternoon.

Breakdown in the anticipated enrollment figures this year shows 1,088,000 expected in elementary schools as compared with 1,051,000 last year and 624,000 in high schools as compared with 603,000 last year.

Mornewick said the actual enrollment may be smaller.

"The labor market is more open this year and will cut in on the number of 16 and 17-year-olds who would normally attend school," he explained.

State law requires that boys and girls go to school until their 17th birthday but provides that 16-year-olds may obtain employment certificates and drop out of school to go to work.

The regulation which permits enrollment in the first grade in September if a child will be six years old before the next February 1 opens the door this year to the majority of the 1946-47 "war babies."

Mornewick said 249,000 were born in that period and estimated 229,000 of them will start to school this year, as compared with 165,000 students in the first grade last year. Although there is usually a lack of qualified elementary school teachers, the shortage will be acute this year because of this heavy first grade enrollment.

The normal load is 30 pupils to each teacher.

Wengert said the traditional elementary teacher shortage is due primarily to the reluctance of college students to go in for elementary education. Most of them prefer secondary education.

Teacher shortages in high schools will be felt in commercial and home economics fields due to qualified teachers drifting from schools to higher-paid jobs in industry.

Wengert estimated nearly 1,000 emergency teacher certificates may be issued this year but said the number is being decreased due to a new law which causes a $300 deduction from the state subsidy for each emergency certificate teacher employed beyond two years.

Lowest temperature ever recorded in the U. S. was 66 degrees F., below zero, at Yellowstone Park, Feb. 9, 1933.
